ENOCH POWELL SPELLS IT OUT!

Race War or the National Front!

• Enoch Powell: Warning

COLOURED IMMIGRATION WILL LEAD TO CIVIL WAR IN BRITAIN. That's the prediction of Enoch Powell.

Yet again the former Conservative Government minister has warned the British people of what awaits them unless 'substantial repatriation' of coloured immigrants takes place.

Enoch Powell, for over 40 years the sharpest brain in British politics, has time and time again spelt out to the British people that to avert such a disaster the only answer is to vote for the National Front.

Enoch Powell warns "I still cannot forsee how a country can be peaceably governed in which the composition of the population is progressively going to change, in the way the population of great parts of England is certainly going to change".

The National Front says that by the year 2068 the British people will be a minority in their own country. Birth-rate figures for Britain show:-

Bangladeshis have 8 children per family
Pakistanis 6.1 children per family
Africans 3.4 children per family
Indians 3.1 children per family

West Indians 2 children per family but
Britons only 1.7 children per family

Enoch Powell believes the only solution is substantial repatriation.

The National Front's policy is:

"The National Front is committed to the ending of all non-White immigration and to the phased, humane and financially-assisted repatriation of all non-White residents resident on our national territory".

Enoch Powell believes the Civil War will begin in major inner-cities like Birmingham and London when the White population finds themselves outnumbered by Blacks and Asians.

The only way to stop this happening is to vote into power a Party that will peacefully avert this crisis.

The National Front is that Party and it is the duty of every Briton to vote for National Front candidates in every council or parliamentary election where they stand.

SO EASY FOR BLACK MAGISTRATES

LORD MACKAY of Clashfern, the Lord Chancellor, has admitted that preferential treatent is given to the appointment of Black magistrates.

In a speech to the Society of Black Lawyers he said this preferential treatment would be extended to the judiciary as soon as sufficient black people with the necessary experience were available.

CHANNON: A BLOODY DISGRACE

THE DISAPPEARANCE of Secretary of State for Transport, Paul Channon, on holiday to the West Indies, just 48 hours after the worst ever air crash in Britain is a bloody disgrace.

• Channon: On Holiday

The inflated wages paid to ministers should be earned and if that means having to cancel holidays so be it. The British public has a right to expect service from its ministers and that doesn't mean going away on holiday when you should be in Britain doing your job!

Channon should be sacked!

RESEARCH SUFFERS

BRITAIN IS slipping down the international league table for medical research as fewer doctors and science graduates go into research.

There are now 35% fewer academic posts for doctors doing research than in the early 1980s and those doctors who undertook research were financially worse off than those in NHS posts.

Getting Fat on Race Relations

IN 1986, the latest year for which there are official figures, the Race Relations Industry cost the British taxpayer more than £102 million.

Much of the money is spent on huge salaries for a vast number of 'Race Relations Advisers' and the 1986 total was a 66-fold increase on the cost of the industry when it was first set up in 1966.

BURNED!

IN INDIA 1,800 brides were burned alive because they failed to bring enough dowry into their marriage. This is a 36% rise on 1986.

Currie: Served up on a Platter to Satisfy Big Business

• The Tory Benches in Parliament: Around 50 MPs can be relied on to echo NFU demands.

BRITAIN'S TORY Government cares more about the welfare of its own M.P.'s majorities and the cultivation of cosy links with big business lobbies than it does about the health of the British public, telling the truth or even backing up its own members when they do so. When a Government minister does tell the truth for once, if that truth offends the Tories' business paymasters then he or she is ruthlessly thrown to the wolves. That is the moral of the Edwina Currie affair.

For Mrs Currie, for all her crass egotism and cosmopolitan ethnic background, did tell the truth, on an important matter of public health. What she said on ITV news on December 3rd - that "most of the egg production in the country, sadly, is infected with salmonella" - was and is true. Not most of the eggs produced, but most of the giant battery hen factories producing them. Mrs Currie's Department of Health had known this for months. As far back as last March, Dr. Bernard Rowe, director of the Central Public Health Laboratory division responsible for salmonella monitoring, had warned of "an enormous public health problem" arising from the spread of this food poisoning "bug" in the increasingly intensive and inhuman poultry industry. The figures speak for themselves. In 1981 there were 1,000 reported human cases of salmonella enteriditis - food poisoning caused by this germ. In 1987, there were almost 7,000 cases. By the time Mrs Currie spoke out, there had already been 12,097 cases reported in 1988. Since the vast majority of salmonella cases never are reported, the true figure is certainly vastly higher.

And sacking Mrs Currie will not reduce it one iota. As Dr. Richard Lacey, Professor of Clinical Microbiology at Leeds University put it "Mrs Currie has been made a scapegoat by the egg producers, by the Ministry of Agriculture and by all those trying to find someone to blame. It won't work because it does not solve the problem - the salmonella is still there".

As of course it will be when hens are crammed into batteries of tens of thousands of birds packed into tiny cages, eating the recycled corpses of their own dead, mutilated so they cannot peck each other, unable even to turn around, in vast, putrid avian Auschwitzes.

When those hens are virtual clones, genetically highly inbred, crammed with chemicals, reduced to mere egg machines, it is no wonder that the new Type IV salmonella strain was able to evolve and spread like wildfire. A strain that dodged the antibiotics which, along with 57 other varieties of chemicals, the "farmers" (if anyone running such an assembly line can be so called) stuff into the hens by being both resistant and non-pathogenic in the bird host. Thus the hens don't fall sick, and the germ can permanently infect their ovaries and ovarian tracts, contaminating the eggs before they leave the chicken. When a hapless human falls ill, the salmonella has already developed resistance to most antibiotics in the battery hen, making a cure harder, with fatal results for babies and old folk.

According to Professor Lacey "150,000 people a year are getting salmonella food poisoning from eggs. It's a major health problem, not a political issue, and we have got to put the welfare of the public first." Why won't the Government do this? Mr Hector MacKenzie, General Secretary of the Health Union COHSE, hit the nail on the head when, pointing out that Mrs Currie was "dangerously near the truth in her statements about infected eggs" he asked "Is there perhaps a cover-up going on to protect the farmers' profits at the expense of peoples' health?"

For it is protecting profits, not peoples' health, which is the reason and purpose of the Tory Party. Mrs Currie's remarks - which only publicised what doctors and the Health Ministry had known for months - may have saved the lives of pensioners and babies. But they hit the profits of the giant "agri-business" combines like Thames Valley Eggs. So those combines got their pressure group, the so-called "National Farmers' Union" (which is not a trades union and is dominated by agro-industrialists, not genuine farmers) to put the squeeze on the Tories. Around 50 Tory M.P.'s can generally be relied on to echo the NFU when it demands even higher Common Market payouts to the agro-businessmen and even higher grants from taxpayers to subsidise its rampage of pollution, hedgerow uprooting and cruelty to animals across what the property developers have left of the British countryside. Many NFU members are hefty contributors to Tory funds, which is the quickest road to power and influence in Thatcher's Britain. No sooner had the paymaster cracked his whip than Tory pipers around the Commons changed their tune. The Ministry of Agriculture bureaucrats, who have long been little better than a mouthpiece for agribusiness, joined in. Their Minister, John MacGregor, was wheeled out to say, truthfully but irrelevantly, that "it is not the case that most eggs have salmonella" - which is not what Mrs Currie had even said - it is the producers, the agribusiness battery plants, not the individual eggs, which are contaminated with the disease. The agribusinessmens' 50 tame Tory M.P.'s joined in the chorus and the "Iron Lady" - as so often - melted. Yet again the Tories had put profit before principle.

• Tens of thousands of birds packed into tiny cages, eating the recycled corpses of their own dead.

BASICALLY TRUE

Mrs Currie may well have said what she said simply to boost her own media profile, as with earlier and less accurate outbursts. But what she said was, as all the experts agree, basically true. But sacking their spokesmen for telling the truth is nothing new to the Tories. They did it to Enoch Powell twenty years ago. But it's time their supporters realised that they do it, and that the Tories are not the "Party of Principle", still less of patriotism. They are a corrupt clique whose only purpose, ideal and goal is to advance their own personal interests and those of the big businessmen who bankroll them. The Conservative Party, as the Currie affair showed yet again, differs from the Mafia only in that it can win elections. After which, of course, it can make the laws to suit itself. And if a babies and old people die of food poisoning in the process, how many "Honourable Members" care?

STEVE BRADY

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE!

LACK OF investment in new rolling stock aggravated the number of injuries and possible deaths in the Clapham Rail Disaster.

All the coaches involved in the accident were pre-1965 vintage and developed from the design of BR's Mk1 coach which have a frame construction covered by a metal skin.

In the Clapham disaster the frames concertinaed, tearing the skin into ragged sheets and showering loose metal and wooden fittings such as luggage racks into the passenger compartments.

Network SouthEast has more than 3,000 MK1 type of coach in service and only 24 of the safer, rigid shell, Class 442 five-car sets known as Wessex Electrics.

Network SouthEast claim that they are to spend £500m by the end of the century in updating its rolling stock. The National Front says "It's too little, too late".

THE WELL OF MISSING £MILLIONS

THE EEC's beef and butter mountains and the wine lakes are now being joined by the missing millions well.

An EEC report reveals that millions of pounds of taxpayers money designated to finance the mountains of surplus food produced by the Common Market is missing. It slams member governments for financial incompetence and declares that any audit on money spent is impossible.

It accuses member governments of:

- Weak Accounting
- Wrong Valuations
- Bad Book-Keeping
- Inadequate Auditing

There are 200 surplus food stores in Britain all of them costing the British public dear. The scandal of the missing £millions is further evidence of what the National Front has always said about the Common Market. E.E.C. - Extra Expensive Con-Trick!

WORRIED ABOUT NATIONAL FRONT SUPPORT!

A SENIOR policeman was so worried about the rising support for the National Front that he wrote to his local council asking them to stop its policy of moving ethnic minority families from the Ivy Bridge estate in Hounslow into better accomodation.

For his efforts in the interests of better race relations Chief Superintendent Cecil Jordan was sued by the Commission for Racial Equality and finished up in Westminster Crown Court.

Judge Percy Harris heard that Mr Jordan, who is based at Chiswick, West London, said that their housing policy was causing 'resentment and ill-feeling' among white tenants.

He continued 'In the light of National Front support, I would ask you to seriously reconsider your policy and make adjustments to lower the tension in the area'.

The judge dismissed the case and awarded undisclosed damages to the police.

GOOD NEWS

FLAG readers may remember that in issue 19, May 1988, we carried the story that Labour Party Councillor Bryan Bennett, was jailed for 8 years for the sickening rape of a mother who went to him for help. Well readers will be pleased to hear that this Labour Marxist has had his appeal against the 8-year sentence turned down.

LEEDS STILL BEST NF BRANCH

THE END of 1988 saw Leeds National Front firmly entrenched at the top of the Branch Efficiency League. Well clear of the second placed Dudley and Brierley Hill with Brighton in third place.

January is starting with its usual flurry with the Organisers' Conference in Birmingham on January 14th and an anti-IRA demo in North London on Saturday January 28th. For details of both these activities telephone 021-783-3564.

New groups should be off the ground early in the new year in Hull and Epping & Loughton, while Birmingham have given themselves little New Year respite ploughing straight into a local council election in Solihull.

NEW GROUP IN MARGATE

A NEW National Front group in Margate has become active selling papers and leafletting.

It's hope that the Party can gain a firm foothold in this part of Kent where there has been little NF activity in recent years.

THREATS AGAINST NF AT COUNCIL MEETING

THERE WAS some most undemocratic and unstatesman-like threats made at a council meeting in Watford when it was heard that the National Front intended to set up a branch in the town in the new year.

"We will wipe them out" said councillor Mo Chhina, "We are strong enough to wipe the National Front out of this town"

"We will bury them if they raise their head" said Hemant Mistry, chief officer for the Watford Council for Racial Equality, "We will fight the National Front".

Less excitable comments came from another councillor who acknowledged National Front support on some of Watford's council estates.

A spokesman for the local NF said that their activities in the town would consist of leafletting and paper selling.

WREATHS LAID

Portsmouth National Front laid a wreath at the Falklands memorial in the town in memory of those who died in the Falklands War.

PAPER SALES IN DEVON

DEVON NF recently held two very successful paper sales outside local football grounds. Firstly on November 19th the venue was Plainmoor, home of Torquay Utd. Utd were playing at home to Fareham in an F.A. Cup match. Here is just over half an hour 20 copies of The Flag were sold, plus badges.

On December 3rd the venue was St. James' Park, home of Exeter City, who were entertaining Colchester in a League match. In under half an hour and in the pouring rain, 25 copies of The Flag were sold. Another 15 copies of the paper and a number of badges were sold in a local pub after the match. Seeing that attendances at both these grounds were very small, we were very pleased with the amount of papers we sold. It is now planned to have a regular 'sales pitch' outside both grounds for the remainder of the season. Many thanks to two new recruits who helped with the paper sales, Steve New and Gary Needs, both of the recently reformed Exeter NF group.

National Front Organise in Bedford

TWO WEEKS of front-page coverage heralded the formation of a National Front group in Bedford.

The inaugural meeting was held at Bedford Town Hall and attended by 20 local supporters. Home Counties North Regional Organiser, John McAuley, told the Bedford Herald that a committee of five had been set up to run the group and that they would be opening a P.O.Box in the new year. One of the main activities would be paper-selling in the town centre every Saturday and as the party gained strength they would contest local council elections.

The publicity brought a hysterical response from the Mayor of Bedford. Cllr. Liz Luder who called on local people not to vote for National Front candidates while Bedford Race Relations Officer Budhder Pandya said he believed the local council should play a leading role in discouraging support for the National Front.

More publicity for Bedford National Front is featured below.

'You have nothing to fear'

Leader speaks out

● Strong views: National Front local organiser Nigel Clark.

NATIONAL Front organiser Nigel Clark says neither he nor his party has anything to be ashamed of.

And he told the Express: "No one has anything to fear from us."

Mr Clark, who lives in Warwick Avenue, Bedford, is a 27 year-old former Pilgrim Upper School pupil who works in the town as a semi-skilled engineer. He plays soccer for a village team on Sundays.

"We want to set up a branch in Bedford and work within the political framework," he said. "We are not going to go around beating people up or causing trouble as some think.

"We just want our voice heard in the area. If we get enough support and I think we will, then we will put up candidates in local and national elections."

At their first meeting, in a town centre hall in Bedford, 20 local people turned up, said Mr Clark, an NF member for eight years. "They ranged from the young unemployed to pensioners. We set up a committee of five and we plan to hold another meeting in Bedford in February."

Mr Clark says he was born and bred in Bedford and brought up to be patriotic. "Our aim is to put Britain first," he said.

"We have strong views on unemployment, the environment and pollution. We are against drugs and against violence. We are against the ritual slaughter of animals.

"On the local side, we want a bypass around Bedford not through it and we would not have let Pilgrim School close. We may not have a good image but we intend to work hard to improve it."

1988 ANNUAL NATIONAL FRONT REMEMBRANCE DAY MARCH

ON SUNDAY 13th November more than 500 National Front members and supporters (Metropolitan Police figures) assembled at Bressenden Place, Victoria, central London for the Annual National Front Remembrance Day Parade.

The parade was led by Directorate member, Tom Mundy and NF Chairman, Ian Anderson who carried the Remembrance wreaths. Behind them came the North West Drum Corps who had improved immeasurably under the guidance of Ray Marsh since the last march they attended.

With the drums sounding a continuous beat the flag party also achieved a high standard of appearance. The traditional ex-Servicemen's section followed behind the flag party and then came the bulk of our supporters who attend this parade to mark their respect for those who have fallen defending Britain's freedom.

This year it was particularly pleasing to see a larger than usual number of family groups amongst the marchers. The overall effect of the march was extremely impressive as the drums heralded our progress along Victoria Street, across Parliament Square and into Whitehall.

At the Cenotaph, Executive Member, Paul Nash conducted a non-denominational Christian service; the two minutes silence was then introduced by the last post and ended by reveille played by Mr Allen Boyce.

After the service the parade reversed its route back to Bressenden Place where a rally was held, this was addressed by Tom Acton, Steve Brady, Ian Anderson and Ray Redfern an ex-serviceman from the West Midlands.

All in all the activity was considerably better both in terms of size and organisation than could have been anticipated and it clearly demonstrated that the party has put its problems behind it and is firmly back on the road to growth and expansion.

WE MUST CARE FOR OUR NATION'S TREASURES

BRITAIN'S NATIONAL treasures are gradually being destroyed through appalling standards of care in our museums and art galleries.

Staff cuts have led to massive backlogs on the collation of collections at the British Museum and the Victoria and Albert Museum in London which between them hold seven million objects.

While a report from the National Audit Office discovered many objects stored in 'cramped, chaotic and overcrowded conditions', that has not only caused deterioration but has also nullified the benefits of previous expensive conservation. The report claimed that around 100,000 books and manuscripts had been damaged which would take 200 years to repair and that inadequate computer cataloguing meant the museums 'don't even know what they have got, so if something was stolen no one would even know about it'.

The state of affairs concerning Britain's national treasures is a scandal. The National Front calls on the government for an immediate injection of money and expert staff to tackle the problem. Money must be made available to protect Britain's history and heritage and if it means re-directing Government funds bound for foreign aid then so be it.

CHANGED HIS MIND AFTER ETHNIC PRESSURE

230 AUTHORS were on the recommended list for primary school English in the national curriculum and of these only three were known for their multi-cultural writing.

After a storm of complaint from Black and Asian groups Prof Brian Cox, who made the original list up, went on Radio 4 and apologised for his omission promising that the list would be extended to include Black and Asian authors.

Learning Their Own Language in Wales!

SOUTH GLAMORGAN County Council is to launch a project for children in Wales to learn their own language.

Such a scheme would have the full backing of the National Front. It is quite proper that Welsh children should be given a sound grounding in their own language.

But wait a bit!

Closer examination of the Councils's grants reveal that all is not as it seems.

* £2,700 to the Broadway Mosque for Urdu tuition.
* £1,600 to the Chinese Parents Association.
* £1,400 to the Canton Mosque (Urdu)
* £900 to the Gujerati Temple
* £790 to the Cardiff Parade Centre (Bengali)
* 790 to the Bangla School at Cathays (Bengali)
* 790 to the Canton/Riverside Bangla School (Bengali)
* 720 to the Barry Mosque and the Roath-based Islami Darasgah (Urdu and Arabic)

So much for Wales for the Welsh. South Glamorgan Council obviously believe Wales is for the Indians, Pakistanis, Bengalis etc.

• Epping Forest by-election: National Front Election Meeting.

The FLAG interviews Tina Wingfield the National Front candidate in the Epping Forest By-Election.

The FLAG: Well Tina, 286 polled in Epping, just under 1% - All a bit grim isn't it?

TINA: No, not all. I am delighted that 286 people made the effort to go to the polls on a bitterly cold day just a week before Christmas and cast their vote for the National Front.

The FLAG: Now come on, for a serious political party with aspirations of coming to power convincing just one person in every hundred to vote for you is pretty pathetic.

TINA: What is pathetic is that less than half the electorate bothered to vote. More than 33,000 in the constituency with the right to vote made no effort to go to the polls. Also what does the National Front expect. This is only the third parliamentary election we have fought since the 1983 General Election. Do you think the British people and the people of Epping have been sitting around waiting for the National Front to get their act together waiting in their thousands to cast their vote for us. In Epping the National Front had to start again from square one and I think the effort we made and the vote we achieved was very satisfactory considering this.

The FLAG: How did the campaign go?

TINA: Very well, we learnt a lot and gained much electioneering experience. 38,061 election addresses were distributed, 10,000 supplementary leaflets, 500 posters were put up.

We learnt that public meetings are a waste of time unless you advertise them weeks in advance, we learnt loudspeakering from a lorry gets a much better reception from the public than from a car and that posters with a cardboard backing tied to objects stay up longer than those just pasted up.

The FLAG: What did the National Front get out of the campaign?

TINA: Twenty totally committed people prepared to set up a branch in Epping. Another 20 enquiries which the local organiser will be following up in the next few weeks also enquiries are still coming in from the election address. I understand that a local P.O.Box has been applied for and we have had people from outside the constituency wanting to start NF papersales in the areas of Chingford, Woodford and Romford.

The FLAG: What did you yourself get out of the campaign?

TINA: A wealth of knowledge with regard to all aspects of electioneering and specific experience with regard to radio interviews, of which I did three, and which I hadn't done before.

The FLAG: What about press coverage, were you happy with it.

TINA: Lord Sutch got ten times the column inches in the local press of the National Front. The Green Party got national and local television time where the National Front got none whatsoever. We were excluded by the media from the contest and it was only through our own efforts that we got our mesage across.

The FLAG: Was it all worth it.

TINA: Yes, well worth it. It was another step by the National Front to come in from the political wilderness. It was another step to establish the name National Front as a political force in Britain today. The voters of Epping Forest have been left with no doubt that the National Front is a political party with a full political programme. While only 286 people actually went to the polling booths to vote for us many more seeds were planted in minds that in the years to come will be more receptive to the National Front message.

The FLAG: Anything else?

TINA: My day was made on Christmas Eve when I got a Christmas Card from Epping. It was unsigned and in a shakey hand was written the message. "Thank you for standing in Epping". The card contained a £20 note.

The FLAG: Thank you Tina.

"We'll give the polls a miss dear, two votes won't make a difference"

The conversation in more than half the homes in Epping on Dec 15th.

THE NIGHTMARE OF HOME OWNERSHIP!

THE TORY dream of everyone owning their own home has turned into a nightmare.

* 1989 will see the number of homeless in Britain pass 1 million for the first time ever.
* 1988 saw the highest number ever of people evicted from their homes for failing to keep up with spiralling mortgage rates.
* 1989 will see that number of evictions, as homes are repossessed by building societies, increasing substantially as increased interest rates bankrupt more families, the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors has announced.
* As the housing market stagnates, some homeowners could be forced to sell their houses for less than they paid.

Under the Tories the majority of homeowners don't really own their own homes. They just rent them from the building societies and banks. Many just pay interest on their loan and with rising interest rates and a stagnant housing market families up and down Britain are heading for bankruptcy.

A National Front Government would really encourage people to buy their own homes. Finance for the purchase would be loaned to buyers from a municipal bank with a fixed interest rate of 5%. Monthly repayments would consist of interest and capital repayments, meaning that every month the purchasers were really buying their own home, not just keeping the bankers fat!

The Tories home ownership policy, just like their immigration, law and order, terrorism and environmental policies are just con-tricks. They are hoodwinking the British public wrapping up disastrous policies in verbiage that they think will appeal to the British people.

NONE DARE CALL IT CONSPIRACY

ENOCH POWELL HAS 'come out' again and predicted that coloured immigration will lead to civil war in Britain. His revelations in the Sunday People Magazine concerning the 'Rivers of Blood' were nothing new. What was new though was his quiet and assured belief that the Government was well aware of the explosiveness of the situation.

Now the National Front has always known that Government's in Britain view coloured immigration as a mistake. Back in the 1970's the Dowager Lady Birdwood went to Tory Central Office in Smith Square to voice her concern over the influx of Blacks and Asians into Britain. She was told by a senior official "Yes coloured immigration was a mistake, but there's nothing you can do about it. You are just going to have to learn to live with it". The Tories have adapted to the situation by pretending to be the Party strong on immigration controls while in reality they have bought off the immigrants with financial hand-outs, laws in their favour and a softly, softly approach to immigrant civil unrest. The Labour Party on the other hand has just gone out to win the immigrant vote seeing Blacks and Asians as their vehicle for attaining power.

Enoch Powell believes that the Government knows that their policy of soft-soaping of coloured immigrants has failed and that disaster is just around the corner. But he says the Government will never admit it. "A politician faced with a predictable and appalling catastrophe at X years remove, is concerned primarily to avoid admitting it".

So it seems likely that unless something is done Racial Civil War will take place in Britain within the forseeable future. I wonder whether Enoch Powell intends to sit back and wait till that happens so he can say 'I told you so' or whether he wants to do something to avert it.

Enoch Powell's observations on the effects of coloured immigration are always welcomed by the National Front. It gives National Front members and supporters a great boost to hear their beliefs and ideals mouthed by a former politician who still commands respect throughout the country.

Asked at a dinner party back in 1983 why he didn't join the National Front, Enoch Powell replied that he believed that he could influence more people by speaking as a 'freelance'.

That may well have been true in 1983 but that is not the case today. If Enoch Powell wants to avoid the 'Rivers of Blood' he predicts then he should join the National Front. Enoch Powell campaigning within a political party that has a branch structure throughout the country would catapult his views on to the front page of every local paper in the country as he spoke at each NF branch. Enoch Powell campaigning on the streets of Britain for a National Front candidate in a parliamentary by-election would set the British political scene alight.

Come on Enoch. For the umpteenth time you've parrotted NF policy. Don't waste your final years talking to Tories who will politely applaud and then do nothing or university students who will abuse you. Come in from the cold - Join the National Front and make a real contribution to averting Race War.

MANY THANKS

On behalf of Tina Wingfield and the National Front I would like to thank all those people who contributed so generously to the Epping Forest By-election Campaign Fund. The National Front, at Epping, made a small yet significant step back into the political arena. Your contributions made that possible.

ISRAELIS USE DOGS AS 'MOBILE BOMBS'

DOGS STRAPPED with explosives are being used by Israeli soldiers to kill Palestinian troops in under ground bunkers in the Shouf Mountains, south-east of Beirut.

The booby-trapped labradors were used during Israel's assault on the PLO just before Christmas. Each of the dogs was strapped with explosives and gas canisters and then a remote control device would blown them up after they had entered PLO hide-outs.

An Israeli Army spokesman refused to comment on the allegations.

Bill Burned

BLACK YOUTHS burned effigies of uniformed policemen at a bonfire party in the Toxteth area of Liverpool.

More than 300 people crammed into Granby Street to cheer as the effigies were burned. Police patrols were warned to steer well clear of the area.

THCUGHT FOR THE MONTH

"Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea. I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband".

National Front Oppose IRA March

Dean O'Brien

• National Front Demonstrators: Stand By Ulster!

Dean O'Brien

• Police protect the IRA marchers

ON NOV 20th National Front members and supporters converged on Mostyn in Manchester to oppose the annual IRA march through the area.

The police, who made no secret of their distaste in having to police the marchers who continually chanted 'IRA, IRA,' allowed the National Front counter-demonstration to walk alongside the marchers until they reached the local Pakistani centre where their rally was held.

After the march the NF contingent was invited to a loyalist pub in Manchester where more than £40's of NF literature was sold. Joining the National Front demonstration were two members of the Protestant Unionist Party, a new political party in Ulster, based in Carrickfergus, which polled 16% in a council election in the town last May.

Services Won't Be Hit by Repatriation

THE MINISTRY of Defence have released figures that confirm that there would be no immediate fall in the strength of Britain's armed forces should a National Front Government come to power.

Unlike America, where Blacks and other ethnic minorities make up a substantial part of the U.S. armed forces, here in Britain the numbers are insignificant. Figures covering the year from April 1987 showed that 1.6% of applicants came from non-white groups.

Fears that the repatriation of Britain's coloured immigrants would threaten Britain's defence capacity have been proved groundless and the less than 2% of West Indian, Indian and Pakistani servicemen returned to defend their own countries would be replaced from the pool of British youngsters in the 15-24 age group.

Funded by Drugs

THE RAINBOW Alliance, a green political Party that polled 38 votes in the Epping Forest by-election is funded by pushing drugs.

Chairman George Weiss admitted that "I've been using LSD profits to fund the party. The deposits for nearly all our election candidates come from drugs".

• Chairman George Weiss

Never

WE are assured by the pollsters that more than half of Britain's trade unionists voted Tory at the last election. Of course the workers are entitled to vote for whomsoever they please, but how strange it is that they should have voted for a party whose leader so obviously detests and despises them.

For behind the canting humbug about democracy and individual freedom that is Madam Thatcher's stock in trade, there is no mistaking La Thatcher's steely determination to put the British worker in his place - at the bottom of the heap. So she can visit Poland, to gratify her vanity by posturing as a world leader, and congratulate the shipyard workers of Gdansk on their heroic stand, knowing full well that she is about to close the last remaining shipyard in Sunderland. She can urge Polish workers to support the Solidarity trade union knowing that she is about to sack the last few trade unionists at GCHQ Cheltenham.

As for football, the favourite sport of the detested workers: she has ordered her stunted stooge, wee Colin Moynihan, to press ahead with her fatuous National Membership Scheme despite the fact that it will ruin many small clubs, will have no effect upon hooliganism, and has been opposed as being completely useless by the FA, the police, local authorities, and just about everyone else who knows anything about football. They are wasting their breath. She has ordained that it shall be so.

Really, for a woman of reputedly high intelligence, she behaves increasingly like a rather silly, opinionated, obstinate, and spiteful old bag.

Yet there are no rumblings of revolt. Football supporters have not taken to the streets to protest at being photographed, fingerprinted, and made to carry identity documents after the style of S.Africa's long abandoned pass laws. It seems that they don't mind being treated like white niggers.

Even that vest-pocket dictator, wee Colin Moynihan can shrill threats about the consequences of non-compliance without exciting derision.

We of the National Front are very fond of that grand old song "Rule Britannia" and particularly the last line which declares: "Britons never, never, never, shall be slaves." Oh, really? Well, sometimes I look around at my supine, apathetic fellow countrymen and wonder, "Have they ever really been anything else?"

Ecumenical Nick

I SEE that a report on religious observance in English prisons has stated that there are 2,000 Moslems incarcerated in the Nick. Since there are 50,000 prisoners all told in the prisons, the Moslem proportion is no less than 4% - and that's just Moslems. There are also Sikhs, Buddhists, Hindus, Rastafarians, Born-again Voodooists, and maybe a Christian or two.

All of which would seem to suggest that the crime rate among the immigrants is astronomically greater than their numbers or that their numbers are immeasurably greater than the authorities admit.

The fact that the authorities contrive to deny both propositions simultaneously is a tribute to their ingenuity and the abiding stupidity of the great British public, which is truly great - the stupidity, I mean.

The aforementioned report recommends that prisoners should be given separate facilities for religious observance, but is this wise? After all, ecumenicism is all the rage just now. What better opportunity of enforcing it than in prison, where the worshippers can't escape.

There could be a service in which Moslems bow to the East towards a statue of Buddha on whose lap the voodooists sacrifice a chicken by cutting its throat with a Sikh dagger while Rastafarians puff forth clouds of smoke from their reefers as a fair imitation of incense.

But then there is a small class of prisoner that has been completely ignored by the survey. I refer to the tiny number of Madam Thatcher's entrepeneurial friends who've been unlucky enough to be caught in the act and finish up in durance vile. They too have souls, I dare say. What sort of religious observance can we offer people whose only god is money? I suppose a Sunday afternoon game of Monopoly would fit the bill.

Numbers Never Lie

IT is said that there are lies, damned lies, and statistics. It is said quite often these days by ill natured people who wish to decry the Government's spectacular economic achievements. Such people claim that Madam Thatcher has managed to halve the unemployment rate by excluding 50% of the unemployed from the register. The fact that the Government has done this merely to iron out the statistical blips does not impress them. There is simply no pleasing some people.

Then again there is price inflation. No less a person that Nigel Lawson himself has assured us that if mortgage interest rates were excluded from the Retail Price Index, the inflation rate would be quite modest.

How true. People just don't seem to realise that it is only their selfish desire to have a roof over their heads that is responsible for mounting inflation. If we would only abandon our self-indulgent life style; live out in the open, and eat grass; why then the true majesty of Madam Thatcher's economic miracle would emerge.

There is, alas, a small blip in our Iron Chancellor's reasoning. He did not, you will recall, suggest excluding mortgage interest from the RPI when the rate was going down. Moreover, if he were to include house prices rather than interest rates in the RPI, our inflation rate would be positively Argentinian. But that is mere nit-picking at a time when we are all being deluged in a veritable tidal wave of prosperity.

Then there is the small matter of wage increases. It seems that the workers are determined to sabotage Madam Thatcher's grand design of turning Britain into the Korea of Europe and seem to positively resent being on the bottom rung of the European wages ladder. Why the ungrateful coolies are demanding wage increases equal to the rate of inflation, sometimes even more.

The Ted Budden Column

It is to counter this kind of selfishness that the Treasury has reintroduced us to an old and valued friend - none other than the dear old Tax and Price Index.

This marvellous instrument was invented in the early eighties to demonstrate to us that if we took into account Mr Lawson's munificent tax cuts, we could all take wage increases much lower than inflation, as measured by the RPI, and maintain our standard of living. Unfortunately, after a couple of years, the Tax and Price Index was actually higher than the RPI and was quietly shelved for some reason - nobody knew why. Now it has re-emerged. Oh joy!

Alas, there is yet another statistical blip to torment the Chancellor. The fat cats who were the main beneficiaries of the tax cuts - City gents, City yobs, Managing Directors, and the like - could now maintain their life-style by taking a 25% wage cut, instead of which they are actually awarding themselves 30% wage increases.

It seems likely that the Tax and Price Index will soon disappear again, this time for good. It merely proves that there is no refuge for politicians in sophisticated statistics and that they would be far better off relying on that which has sustained them through the ages - good old-fashioned lies.

Nimby Strikes Back!

YOU all know Nicholas Ridley - there's no point in denying it, however much you'd like to. He is our esteemed Minister of the Environment; a man not greatly liked due to his penchant for fluctuating wildly between asininity and poisonous asperity - he is, as it were, a cross between an ass and an asp.

In Mr Ridley's case, he never seems to be quite sure whether he is supposed to be preserving the environment or privatising it. He announces that the Green Belt is not sacrosanct and that parts of it should be developed for housing.

Immediately after sounding the death knell of the Green Belt, he announces that he is prepared to defend it to the death, or at least, to be precise, that part of the Green Belt that is adjacent to his back garden. He furiously denounces plans to build houses at the rear of Chateau Ridley on the grounds that it is out of keeping with the environment for, indeed, it is certainly out of keeping with the view from Mr Ridley's bedroom window.

This stance has definitely gained him the uncoveted title of NIMBY of the Year; a NIMBY being a Yuppie's uncle - one who is in favour of economic development at all costs but Not In My Back Yard. What is the poor fellow to do? When he wants to develop the Green Belt he gets brickbats. When he defends it, doubts are expressed concerning his parentage.

But help is at hand for poor beleaguered Nick from his own maniacally privatising colleagues. Whenever any industry is privatised, Mrs Thatcher's entrepeneurial friends immediately close it down and sell the land for lots and lots of lovely loot. With the impending sale of British Rail, just think of the opportunities for turning this particular lame duck into a golden goose.

Since trains are hopelessly uneconomic, any self-respecting looter would immediately scrap them, sell the rails to privatised British Steel for scrap, and build houses on the vast tracts of railway land.

Just think; lovely new ribbon housing estates stretching all the way from Kings Cross to Liverpool; Paddington to Bristol; Waterloo to Penzance; Victoria to Brighton (but, come to think of it, there's already a housing estate stretching from Victoria to Brighton). Why, not only would Mr Ridley be able to cover half the country in concrete without dropping half a brick on the Green Belt, but life would be so much easier for door-to-door salesmen.

However, before this grand design can be fulfilled, there must be a proper survey of all British Rail property - just in case there's a railway line at the bottom of Nicholas Ridley's garden.

Poor Coverage of our IRA Demo

Sir,

I have been asked by the Committees of the Brighton and Worthing Branches of the National Front to make known our feelings on the report, 'Tory Councillors join NF Demo' that appeared in November's issue of The Flag.

The report was factual and our complaint concerns the fact that a mere 8 lines was given to our demonstration in the paper whereby the so called hostile media gave it half-page coverage in local newspapers and widespread coverage on local radio and television. In fact it was the main item on local television news.

A well-organised, well attended National Front demonstration that attracted Tory Councillors to join it should surely have warranted more publicity.

Yours faithfully,
Mrs. C. Taylor,
Secretary, Worthing NF.

Community Action Section

Dear Editor,

I remember that at one time our party had a 'Community Action' section in its publication and I always thought this was an excellent way of exchanging ideas and advising how action can be taken to campaign on local issues.

The Sleapshyde Action Group is at present campaigning over the Smallford Bridge at Colney Heath where pensioners and young mothers with children are being put at risk because of the lack of a crossing facility for them.

As a result of our group's campaigning I have been invited to address a St Albans District Council meeting and we have received wide press coverage.

Community Action by local Nationalist Groups would create a lot of interest and be part of our sinking local roots strategy. National Front branches must make real efforts to become part of their local community.

Best Wishes,
Jim Archer,
St Albans.

England's Cup

Dear Editor,

I agree with virtually everything the Flag says, and that Brian Clough should be the next England manager. However, Bobby Robson is the best manager we have had since Sir Alf Ramsey.

It is true that Barnes is useless at international level, but the rest of them aren't.

He would be crazy not to pick Robson, Lineker, Beardsley etc for the team. It is hardly his fault if they play like amateurs on the day. Also, he got us to the semi-finals of the World Cup. It is not his fault that Argentina changed the rules about goal scoring without telling anyone!

The next team to win the World Cup will be England - under Robson.

Maybe I am biased, being a life-long Ipswich fan. After all, we've had 8 managers since joining the League and two of those have been England managers - one of which won the World Cup.

Yours faithfully,
Matthew Sloane

Very Proud

Dear Sir,

I was delighted and proud to march with the National Front to the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day. Not only was I marching for my three Grandads and Uncles who fought for Race and Nation in World War Two, I marched for my kinfolk who liberated the Falklands. I marched for my comrades who were maimed and killed in the Ballgawley bus massacre!

Again and again, the NF is the only political party to oppose the IRA murderers, wherever they show themselves. There are more NF supporters in the Armed Forces than people realise! While we fight the enemies of Britain, without, you fight the enemies within.

I long for the day when the cowards in this government are replaced by a politicians that will fight the Ulster War to win it! I hope that an NF government will smash the IRA with the SAS, deport all Sinn Fein supporters to the Republic, guard and patrol the frontier properly, with look-outs, fencing, passport checkpoints etc, and scrap the Anglo-Irish Agreement. Keep Ulster united with Britain and stop Republicans automatically being given British citizenship.

Yours faithfully,
A.Private,

McDonalds Junk Food

Dear Sir,

A letter in The Flag Newspaper titled: 'It's so easy at McDonalds', rather shocked me. One would have thought that every self-respecting Nationalist would have recommended the boycotting the multinationals Burger King and McDonalds.

One would have thought, that every Nationalist is well aware of McDonalds shocking record of seriously harming the environment by destroying vast area's of Rain Forests for their cattle farms and the obscene conditions in which animals are kept who end up in 'burgers'. All these practices are deeply deplored by the National Front.

Hence it would appear, that the article in the September issue of The Flag omitted to highlight also the more loathsome aspects of McDonalds Junk Food Chain.

Had the writer of the letter been made aware that McDonald's burgers are high in fat, sugar, salt, water and chemicals, that they contain just the stuff that gives you heart, blood and digestive organ disorder, she would not want to take her children there for meals, just because there are high-chairs at McDonalds. No mother who cares for her children would knowingly expose her children to such health risks.

The Flag newspaper does far too little to inform on environmental issues and their cultural, moral and health implications. Surely such information is of prime importance for our nations physical and spiritual survival, for the survival of Planet Earth for that matter.

Would it therefore not be right for The Flag to allocate more space than hitherto to environmental issues and treat knowledge-hungry readers to an occasional 'front page spread' - which has appeared only once in two years.

Yours sincerely
M. Wagegg,
Birmingham.

It's a Brilliant Book!

Sir,

The brochure 'An Introduction to the National Front' really is a masterpiece! If every citizen of the country of all political persuasions, of all ethnic groups read this work, there would be a lot more respect for the NF.

I'd love for those who smear us as 'nazis' or 'fascists' to read the sections on Democracy and Individual Freedom. Those in the Police, Courts, Home Office to read the Crime sections. Every other ethnic minority to read our condemnation of racial attacks. Every football manager and supporter to read the Assistant commissioners apologies to the NF.

Let's sell this brilliant booklet in the streets, door-to-door and distribute them to newsagents, bookshops and libraries. It has certainly cleared any fears or misconceptions I had about your organisation.

Discrimination

Dear Sir,

I am bringing to your attention racial and religious discrimination at Wembley's huge Sunday market in London. Did you know that only Jews and Seventh Day Adventists are allowed to run stalls at this market. One has to prove to the organisers they are of one of these denominations before one can proceed business at this market.

We have been informed by Brent council that this is because certain denominations cannot work on Saturday but, how ironic it is that non-Jews, Agnostics and Atheists can work on these stalls for Jews or Seventh Day Adventists as employees but not as a stall holder.

This is racial and religious discrimination at the highest level and a letter to this effect is being sent to the European Court of Human Rights.

Yours sincerely,
James English

300th Anniversary: South-West NF Play Their Part

Dean O'Brien

• Loyalists march to Brixham Quayside.

SATURDAY 5th November saw the 300th anniversary of the landing of William of Orange at Brixham, Devon. To mark the occasion the Loyalist Orange Order held a massive march and rally in the small fishing town. Over 1,000 Orangemen with 5 bands took part in the march and they were joined by another 900 Loyalists at the statue of William, on Brixham Quayside for the Rally.

A pro IRA group, made up mostly of Labour Party members called 'Anti-Fascist Action' tried to stage a demonstration against the Loyalist rally, but the 30 or so Reds did not stay around for long when they saw an NF group attending the proceedings and the police advised them to leave Brixham.

AFA handed out a few dozen anti-NF leaflets and chanted 'Smash the National Front, Smash the Orange Order' while being guarded by the police as they left!

At the Loyalist Rally on Brixham Quayside, which followed the march, the 25 strong local NF group, had hoped to hold a paper sale and leaflet drive, similar to that at the Exeter march a month or so before. However Devon police had other ideas. Before we could even get the papers/leaflets out of our bags, the police descended upon us and we were read the 'riot act'.

The police enforced the Public Order Act, section 12, 'Incitement to cause a riot' on us. I was warned as Organiser of the NF group, I would be arrested if we attempted to sell papers or give out leaflets. Even though many Loyalists wanted to buy papers off us there.

This created a lot of interest from the local press and I gave interviews to both the Western Morning News and the Torbay Herald Express, both of which gave the NF write-ups the following day. However if the police thought they had stopped the NF they were very wrong. After the march and Rally many Loyalists headed for the local pubs and here we sold copies of The Flag, NF badges and gave out leaflets.

The days events ended with a large Loyalist social, organised by the Orange Order in a Hotel in nearby Torquay. The NF group which attended was made very welcome and here too copies of The Flag and NF badges were sold. A very enjoyable evening was had by all there and many new friends and contacts were made. Portsmouth Orange Band provided the music and the 'sing song' went on well into the night, ending with 'God Save the Queen'.

Many thanks to all the NF members who turned out for this, which included groups from Torquay, Paignton, Plymouth, Exeter and last but not least Coventry NF who came a very long way to support us. Thanks also to their Organiser Dean O'Brien who photographed the days events for us.

FLAG SPORT

UPHILL TASK FOR THE BRAVE MEN OF ULSTER

NORTHERN IRELAND, who have provided a touch of magic to the last two World Cup finals, face an uphill task to qualify for the 1990 competition.

The 4-0 drubbing by Spain in Seville just before Christmas means they have got to win and win well when they meet Spain and Hungary at Windsor Park as well as taking at least three points from Malta and Eire.

COURAGE

It's a tall order. Northern Ireland have showed us before that they have an abundance of courage and that could just carry them through to provide some shock results. And little Malta could aid the brave men from Ulster, they held Hungary to a 1-1 draw at the back-end of 1988 and similar results against Spain and the Republic would throw the group wide open again.

Northern Ireland badly need to reach the World Cup finals. They stand to lose £750,000 if they fail to, money that is badly needed by the senior clubs in Ulster who benefit from success at international level.

MIDGET TO DROP I.D. CARD SCHEME?

by Ian Anderson

MINISCULE MOYNIHAN our Minister for the destruction of sport is rapidly becoming one of the most unpopular M.P.'s even amongst his own colleagues. His eagerness in seizing on Thatcher's idea of an identity card for football supporters is beginning to be seen as a potential disaster which could lose the Tories precious votes.

Moynihan is under attack by virtually all the M.P.'s who come from areas where there are large numbers of football supporters.

As a result this Colin Moynihan is reverting to his normal supine attitude to life - by desperately trying to find a way of popularising his absurd scheme. Amongst the ideas he is currently considering are:-

* Exempting children from the scheme
* Allowing casual supporters to register as temporary members of the scheme as late as noon on the day of the match - this would be a laugh as it would make the scheme totally useless, only ensuring that all fans get to the away match in plenty of time for a long drink before the game.
* Allowing members to take along non-members to the games.

Already a television programme has shown that the Luton scheme is ineffective and the national scheme will be a fiasco, the only losers being the clubs who will have to pay for the scheme.

However there is one big factor which should give football fans some encouragement and that is the personal nature of Colin Moynihan, or the Honourable Colin Moynihan as he insisted on being called when he was at University (Daddy's a Lord you know). He was then so keen to get on that he flirted with every shade of political opinion (even once trying to gatecrash an NF meeting) in order to get elected to the committee of the Oxford Union Society.

When he finally became an M.P. he was determined to maintain his popularity amongst his local Tory Party, so whenever he had a difficult vote to face in the House of Commons such as the vote on hanging he used to ask them which way to vote. Once he even went so far as to organise a referendum.

So with such deep seated principles as these there is still an excellent chance that as soon as he realises that the whole concept of an ID card is unpopular with the British voters and could damage his career then he will drop it like a red hot brick and leave football to survive without him.

PROFIT BEFORE ANGLERS

THE PRIVATISATION of Britain's water authorities will seriously threaten Britain's most popular sport. After considerable pressure the government finally agreed to set up a National Rivers Authority when water is privatised this year. However the government's commitment to this can only be regarded as half-hearted in view of the fact that it was only when the Council For The Protection of Rural England revealed that the government's original plan would break European law did they finally agree to set up the National Rivers Authority.

To quote the C.P.R.E. on the government's final agreement to set up the NRA: "Much now depends on the power and resources of the new body".

On 18th December these powers were revealed. There are a lot of words on "maintaining and enhancing the quality of inland, coastal and underground waters", however when it comes down to enforcement this watchdog is decidedly toothless. When an individual or company is found to be discharging pollutants into Britain's waterways they are served with a prohibition order. Further discharge would then be an offence. This is virtually an incitement to try to get away with it as long as possible knowing that when eventually caught all that will happen is that they will be told "not to do it again". Farmers are to be given a code of practice to avoid pollution - this is entirely voluntary and breaking it will not be an offence.

When deciding on the powers of the NRA it is obvious that the interests of Britain's sporting fishermen have been put decidedly second to the profits of the water companies and other industries. After all no angling society gives money to the Conservatives whereas big business . . . . .
